SUPPORT HO'S there when you most need them

What happens when those closest to you, those who've seen the highs and lows with you, those who can get away with telling you exactly how it is, suddenly have other priorities? Change, of course (and it isn't always pretty). Three women, laden with and buoyed by their life experiences, deal with the loss of their touchstone pal and the stability of their tried and true foursome – the future seems much more risky now that they're down to three. Fortunately, the waiter who has delivered their "usual" breakfast every week for the last 12 years has some surprises and sage advice to serve up along with the best coffee in the city. Come join the fun as hanging in, hanging on, and holding it in take on a whole new reality for the Support Ho's.

Support Ho's marks Sterling nominated Edmonton playwright Linda Wood Edwards' third Fringe effort, the first two being the critically acclaimed Spring Alibi in 2005 and the sold-out True Grid in 2007. Edgy and spirited director Eileen Sproule, known for the eye-brow raising generic theatre hits The Tit Show, Dead Rats, and Dr. Grot takes in hand a cast of Edmonton favorites including Linda Grass, Tanya Lawrence, Andy Northrup, and Rebecca Starr to deliver a funny, insightful, and very human look at moving to a better place when the "here and now" feels as good as you thought it ever could.

Come feel the lift and confidence that only a decent set of Support Ho's can provide.

General admission, some profanity and sexual content
